officials to transfer records from state universities. Recordkeeping conditions of that region make the records more susceptible to physical deterioration.

These records are of great value to government officials. IRAD helps preserve the past.

IRAD hours

Hours at the seven regional depositories vary. Reservations are accepted from 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for more information, especially if they are on Saturdays and Sundays, state holidays and other weeks.

OUR PAST for the future

Looking back into our past is an enriching experience. To ensure that future generations have the same opportunities to explore their heritage, the Illinois Regional Archives Depository system (IRAD) was established.

IRAD is a resource-sharing system that works with the Local Records Commission and area libraries to make records available to the seven IRAD centers at Illinois State University. Records at each IRAD reflect the unique history and traditions of the local area. The relocation of local records to regional facilities makes them accessible to researchers and prevents their loss or

IRAD records

Local governments that have transferred records to regional depositories include counties, townships, municipalities and school districts. Records include:

- county board proceedings files and meeting minutes
- records of births, deaths and marriages
- land deeds, mortgages and tax sale records
- assessors' and collectors' tax books
- poll books and voter registers
- naturalization records, including declarations of intent
- probate records, including wills and will records, case files, administrators' and executors' records, guardianship records, and inventory and appraisement records
- court case files (civil and criminal), chancery cases (including divorces), docket books and court proceedings, and insanity proceedings files and records
- coroners' inquest records and inquest files
- miscellaneous county records, including almshouse/county home records and jail registers
- township meeting minutes
- highway commissioners' minutes
- school trustees' minutes
- pupil registers
- school land sale records

- city council proceedings files and meeting minutes
- ordinance records
- city election records

City of Chicago Records—A special part of IRAD's holdings is from the City of Chicago and includes nearly 35,000 previously unknown documents that predate the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. In addition to city council proceedings files from 1833 to 1942, holdings include plats, atlases and Sanborn Maps.

Other Chicago records include election registers from 1888 to 1892 and ordinance records spanning from 1837 to 1916.

Making a request

Mail and telephone requests concerning genealogy and local history are welcome. Please include the following information when making a request:

- full name of the person you are researching
- approximate year the person is expected to appear in a record
- name of the county
- record title or type to search

Please limit inquiries to two names at a time and wait until you have received a response to your first request before submitting additional ones.

IRAD resources

Several resources are available to assist in your research:

Publications

- A Summary Guide to Local Governmental Records in the Illinois Regional Archives, second edition (1999) — Lists all county, township and municipal records, including those from Chicago and Cook County. Cost: $6.
- Chicago City Council Proceedings Files: 1833-1871: An Inventory and an Index — A 989-page inventory accompanied by an index containing 93 microfiche. Cost: $35.

County listings
